Garvey Takes Craddock to Task—He Went to Sleep.

For the first time since Colonel Craddock's death, the Advocate has published a paper that Elder J. W. Garvey, in a sermon he preached, to bet that certain things were true. To this statement the reverend returned replies as follows:

THE REV. CRADDOCK: I cannot let it go that statement in your report of my sermon at Macedonia. I proposed a bet, and that, too, on the Apostle Paul's experience in heaven. I am too old to set such an example for younger preachers. If I were put on my oath I could not swear that I did not use the expression, but there are too strong evidences in my favor. The first of that your report of it represents me as saying "Saint" Paul, a title which I never employ. The second is, that you went to sleep in just that part of the sermon, and I don't think you are a competent witness as to my exact words. I think that as you were dropping into the arms of Morpheus, you dreamed that you were in the Phoenix Hotel during the races, and the last words you heard from me were mixed up with some you heard there. The next time you come to hear me, please take a nap before church so that I can keep you awake and you can report me straight.

Yours,

J. W. GARVEY.

Japan Clover.

The Japan clover is spreading over the Southern States. It was introduced there nobody knows how, during the latter years of the war, and has since then become so common that it appears in any locality attracts no attention. Nobody knows how it spreads. It appears mysteriously in a place where it never was before and where it is difficult to explain how the seeds could have come. It grows luxuriantly and answers all the purposes of common clover, crowding out the different grasses and all kinds of weeds. This same clover grows in the mountains of Eastern Ky.

Life is Misery

To many people who have the taint of asceticism in their blood. The agonies caused by the dreadful running sores and other manifestations of this disease are beyond description. There is no other remedy equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, salt rheum and every form of blood disease. It is readily seen to benefit all who give it a fair trial.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills.

He Knew It Was Loaded.

On last Wednesday, Jerry Coleman, colored boy living near Leesport, Young's Mill, was out with a loaded shotgun, and pushed it into a corn crib, breech foremost, where it remained until he finished feeding. Then he undertook to take it out when it was discharged, the load taking effect in the left wrist, breaking the bone to the elbow. He will recover.

Another narrow escape from an accident, with the well known unloaded gun, happened in Young & Hasselrigg's store yesterday. Some one had come in and set down an eight-shot. Jimmie Jones, coming in began examining the old "specimen" when the gun in some way was discharged, the load striking the wall, and from the vicious way it tore off the plastering, showed how much damage it might have done. Clarence Hasselrigg and Ed. Jones were barely out of range of the gun when it exploded.

We invite attention to an article headed "The new Tariff Bill," to be found in this issue. It is from the pen of the gentleman who kindly furnished us the article in our last issue, on the proposed L. & N. scoop of the O. & O. and Southwestern railroad. It can be read with both interest and profit.

Mr. J. Van Alen has declined to accept the appointment as ambassador to Italy though strongly urged by President Cleveland to accept.

In weighing the merits of the new Tariff Bill submitted by the Democratic majority of the Ways and Means Committee, it should be considered that the Committee has had to deal with the complicated, perplexing and distasteful problem that a popular form of government affords. The American people particularly, who have so uncharacteristically exalted the spirit of trade, can never view with unmixed satisfaction, though they admit its necessity, any measure that takes from their private stock of wealth even to add to the public store. Much more impatient, then, will they be of a bill that, in its nature, bears more or less unequally upon all branches of industry, and which is fastened upon them by their own especially selected servants. No matter how successful the political party that deals with the question may be from an absolute point of view, it will be more strange than otherwise if the people, each seeing some neighbor borne upon less heavily than himself, and forgetting in turn that he escapes more lightly than others, do not make it to a considerable degree the extent of their selfishness and petulance. Therefore we are prepared to expect a great deal of temporary dissatisfaction with the proposed Tariff Bill among all classes and ranks of life; and until the better common sense of the American people overcome their first ungenerous fretfulness, may expect to see this dissatisfaction reflected from the polls. It is in the advanced spirit of fairness that must pervade the nation that we would now beg our immediate friends and neighbors to contemplate this mighty measure.

The new Tariff Bill is an immense advance in the right direction over anything the present generation has seen. A few facts will show. This is an age of iron; iron enters as a necessity directly or indirectly into every man's existence, and under the new bill iron is free, and the metal itself in its manufactured form taxed scarce half what it has been. We cannot possibly do without lumber; our forest supply has been greatly reduced, especially near the larger centers; but now the enhancement in price, consequent upon its increasing scarcity, will be kept in check by admitting free lumber from the yet untapped stores of Canada and tropical America. In the interior we will reap the benefit of this in cheapened furniture and kindred products. Coal already in the East is mismanaged and even increasing prices by constantly growing trusts; coal will now be admitted free, and the sea-board, which use it so much in creating, our supplies for daily use, will have the benefit of a competition that cannot well be stifled. Few appreciate what an important factor chemistry, as applied to the arts, plays in our commerce; there is scarcely a branch of manufacture into which it does not enter; the acids which are the chemical products most largely used will henceforth be admitted free. Neither the physical nor the spiritual needs of man are overlooked; both food products and works of art will be admitted without charge. In other important particulars, where the duty has not been wholly eliminated, noticeable cuts have been made. The first cost of iron, steel, pottery, glass, woolen and cotton manufactures will have been reduced on an average of almost half, and as to the remainder of the list, with one or two immaterial exceptions, the tariff is left without advance.

The benefits that will accrue to the poor and all in moderate circumstances from this very general reduction of tariff charges, are very great indeed, and even the wealthier industrial classes, unless all rules of political economy as well as the recognized experience of other lands are at fault, will profit more by the increased stimulus to manufacture free raw materials will bring about that they will lose by the withdrawal of an enervating protective bounty.

But we do not mean to say the bill is without fault, or that we would be content to see it remain unimproved. It is not yet the bill that a Democratic Congress has agreed upon or a Democratic President endorsed; and in the meantime should and does court friendly criticism. The Committee have gone a long way in carrying into practice the Democratic doctrine of tariff reform; their reduction, on the whole, in prevailing rates has been more extensive than could have been expected, but it seems to us they have not grasped this hydra-headed subject in that utterly fearless spirit that could alone hope to attain the highest results; nor have they, in the detailed application of accepted theory, proved themselves without fault. A word, to illustrate, by the clamor of the extreme free trading press, vociferating the wholly artificial doctrine that what is once on the free list should remain on the free list on the one hand, and on the other howling to the hectoring wrath of the Louisiana delegation, they have, in the important matter of the sugar schedule, effected a compromise that pleases no one. Harkening to a more popular outcry, they have violated a deep underlying principle of the party, while at the same time the sugar-growers remain scarcely satisfied with a protection that promises in the end to prove more of a snare than a benefit. It is the true theory of the Democratic party, and should be the controlling motive in solving all tax questions, that taxes should be so distributed as to produce the least amount of inconvenience to the masses commensurate with the amount of revenue raised; and this theory should be steadfastly pursued at whatever cost and regardless of all conflicting hobbies or tenets. In keeping with such a broad design, it may sometimes be found necessary to tax a staple universally used, though by no individual in very large quantities, in order that other necessities, still more indispensable to the numerous classes that can least afford to be taxed, may be provided at a still greater reduction of cost. Such an occasion has arisen here; but the Committee have failed to grasp it. If a tax of one cent a pound had been replaced on sugar a vast amount of money would have been raised without producing any perceptible hardship anywhere, which profit could have been advantageously turned to account in extinguishing the rather high tariff of 35 per cent. The Committee have left on cotton and woolen manufactures—the very items which, of all in the tariff list, now bear the heaviest on the poor throughout the land. Incidental to this far penetrating error, emanating from a too narrow conception of their mission, has been the grave mistake of tolerating, even in a modified form, a bounty—a thing wholly repugnant to the spirit and tradition of the party, and ever in the past the object of its loudest denunciations and eagerly proclaimed promises of reform.

We think, too, that the tariff on pearl, ivory, silk, and the more fanciful articles of food and apparel, might, in keeping with the increasing wealth and luxury of the higher classes, have been increased rather than otherwise to the advantage of still further reductions in the manufactures list. Indeed it is questionable whether, without such a reduction, too great a discrimination is not made against the producers of raw material; though a country so fertile of natural resources as ours can scarcely be heard to complain with justice of such a slight, if it does in fact exist. We are sorry not to see aluminum transferred to the free list, on the other hand. If scientific indications are not amiss, the next century will be the age of aluminum as this has been of iron; and we think a free market for this most important product open to the whole world would greatly stimulate its production, and hurry to the general advantage the expected era, while a valuable precedent would be established when the metal is yet in its infancy for its future unrestricted introduction.

Descending to further details, we note several inconsistencies in the bill, such as reducing the tariff on opium to avoid smuggling, while the tariff on diamonds, which, while low, is yet high enough to keep three-fourths of the importations away from the Custom House, is increased. Errors of this character, however, are not so material.

The administrative portion of the bill is said to be an improvement. Certainly the speedy and decisive method in which all questions of approvement are to be settled, and the directness of appeals on points of law, will be an advantage under a tariff reform; their reduction, on the whole, in prevailing rates has been more extensive than could have been expected, but it seems to us they have not grasped this hydra-headed subject in that utterly fearless spirit that could alone hope to attain the highest results; nor have they, in the detailed application of accepted theory, proved themselves without fault. A word, to illustrate, by the clamor of the extreme free trading press, vociferating the wholly artificial doctrine that what is once on the free list should remain on the free list on the one hand, and on the other howling to the hectoring wrath of the Louisiana delegation, they have, in the important matter of the sugar schedule, effected a compromise that pleases no one. Harkening to a more popular outcry, they have violated a deep underlying principle of the party, while at the same time the sugar-growers remain scarcely satisfied with a protection that promises in the end to prove more of a snare than a benefit. It is the true theory of the Democratic party, and should be the controlling motive in solving all tax questions, that taxes should be so distributed as to produce the least amount of inconvenience to the masses commensurate with the amount of revenue raised; and this theory should be steadfastly pursued at whatever cost and regardless of all conflicting hobbies or tenets. In keeping with such a broad design, it may sometimes be found necessary to tax a staple universally used, though by no individual in very large quantities, in order that other necessities, still more indispensable to the numerous classes that can least afford to be taxed, may be provided at a still greater reduction of cost. Such an occasion has arisen here; but the Committee have failed to grasp it. If a tax of one cent a pound had been replaced on sugar a vast amount of money would have been raised without producing any perceptible hardship anywhere, which profit could have been advantageously turned to account in extinguishing the rather high tariff of 35 per cent. The Committee have left on cotton and woolen manufactures—the very items which, of all in the tariff list, now bear the heaviest on the poor throughout the land. The system of collecting duties on an ad valorem basis is certainly the only fair one in theory; and the country will gladly welcome Mr. Wilson's statement that it is not more productive of fraud through under-valuation than the system of specific duties now in vogue.

The bill, then, as a whole, holds out fair hopes of fulfilling the Democratic promise to the country and, in doing that, of conferring in cheapened necessities of life a blessing upon the people. Its defective details and occasional friction with the fundamental and approved principles of the party may be righted in Committee of the whole, and in many important particulars we believe will be. The deficiency that is promised, for several reasons that may be demonstrated, is rather acceptable than otherwise. It can be met, too, in a manner that will not be oppressive. And in conclusion it should be deemed a matter for undoubted congratulation, even if there be an exception or two brought about by unusual stress of circumstances, that the Committee has in so very many instances completely disregarded the selfish and shameless demands of protection even when coming, as was often the case, from their own Democratic districts.

Thanksgiving Day.

Thursday was pretty generally observed in our city as a day of Thanksgiving. The banks, stores, etc., were pretty generally closed.

Religious service was held at the Methodist church, Elder W. T. Tibbs preaching a splendid sermon. At this meeting the report of the organization of the Board of Public Charities was organized for the winter, and Mr. L. T. Chiles presented the needs of the Association in such a manner as to keep the audience on the very best of terms with themselves, and at the same time draw from them liberal contributions. By the way, both the speeches of Elder Tibbs and Mr. Chiles were each, in its way, gems. Neither speaker following the well worn paths that we so generally have opened up to us on such occasions. Those who were on hand responded liberally—as indeed the good people of our town always do for any good work—and a contribution of $122.46 was raised.

How a Republican Does Hate to Let Go.

Quite a heated interview took place at the Custom House this morning between Surveyor Alford and his predecessor, Col. Collier. The former summarily discharged Will Collier, Col. Collier's son, to make room for one of his appointees, and Col. Collier thought that Alford was ungrateful, as young Collier has practically run the office—since the new Surveyor took charge—Louisville Post.

Cost Sale.

Tom F. Rogers, desiring to change business, will offer $15,000 worth of clothing, men's furnishings goods, boots, shoes and hats at actual cost; or he will sell the stock in bulk to anyone desiring to enter mercantile life.

This means a harvest of bargains for cash customers at retail, as the stock is full of a new line, just received and well assorted, to January 1st.

The State of Nevada had 1200 farms which have lately been reclaimed from the arid desert by irrigation. It is believed that when more money has been used to irrigate its lands and make them productive, Nevada's population will assume respectable proportions. Farming also brings a better class of settlers than filled its cities in days when mining was the only industry of the State.

The American brig John D. Spreckels, arrived at San Francisco Thursday morning eleven days from Kahului, Hawaiian Islands. Up to the time of her departure there had been no new developments in the Hawaiian situation.

State Rank and Products.

Colorado is first in silver.

Washington is eighth in gold.

Alaska ranks first in sealskins.

Utah is first in silver and tenth in gold.

Montana is fourth in silver, fifth in gold.

Florida is third in sugar and sixth in rice.

Idaho is sixth in gold and seventh in silver.

Nebraska is eighth in corn and ninth in rye.

Minnesota is fourth in wheat, eighth in oats.

Vermont is fourth in copper and seventh in hops.

Rhode Island is second in cotton and linen goods.

Nevada is second in gold and fourth in silver.

The two Dakotas lead all the States in wheat.

South Carolina leads in rice, is fifth in cotton.

Wyoming is twelfth in cattle and fourteenth in gold.

New Mexico is eighth in silver and seventh in gold.

Oregon is seventh in fisheries and thirteenth in wheat.

Delaware is the twenty-first of the States in apples.

Maine is fifth in buckwheat, eighth in hops, ninth in potatoes.

The Associated Charities.

At a meeting of the Associated Charities at the office of the New Farmers Bank, William Mitchell was made Chairman, J. W. Hedden Secretary, and H. R. French Treasurer.

A curious story comes from the State Reformatory at Concord, Mass. Under the law for paroling prisoners it was thought that those guilty of trivial offenses might be committed for a few days or weeks, and their release on parole. This is a mistake.

For the slightest misdemeanor he must make a good record at least five months before he is put into the first grade. He must then serve three months with a perfect record before his release is possible. For a prisoner convicted of felony 10 months is required to obtain release. There have been a remarkable number of applicants for pardon recently, and they come from a misunderstanding of this law. It seems almost incredible, but parents have in some cases preferred charges of slight offenses, stubbornness, etc., against their own children, for the purpose of committing them to the reformatory for a few days only. When they learned that the commitment was for eight months the only way to secure the release was by pardon. We have very little sympathy with unnatural parents who need to call in the aid of the State to maintain family discipline. Something must be wrong with the home life and surroundings of children whose parents cannot manage them. Perhaps the old-fashioned ways of training were not perfect, but they had the merit of not setting aside parental corrective influences for those that the State affords when the offenders become in corrigible. The habit of depending on the government, either State or national, for what a man ought to do for himself, is a thoroughly bad one. It is especially bad when State paternalism is invoked to supersede the home in the training of children.—American Cultivator.

Hon. Thomas Whitehead, Virginia Commissioner of Agriculture, writes us recommending those who wish to engage in growing deer in parks to investigate the advantages which the mountain regions of his State afford. Fairly good agricultural land can be bought at very low prices. It is well watered, and is already supporting a considerable number of deer, which find plenty of food during the coldest winters. Sheep also thrive well without winter feeding, and are profitable for mutton. Goats, both Cashmere and the common sort, can be added to the stock if desired. We do not doubt that there is money in this, and the supply of good venison is not likely, with all the efforts to increase it, to grow so fast as will the demand.—Ex.

The New York State Forestry Commission is making an effort to fill the Catskill Mountains with deer. They were once plentiful, but have been killed off until scarcely a deer remained except 36 in a State park. These were released, and wild deer captured in the Adirondacks will take their place. Deer have become very plentiful in the Adirondack region since the enforcement of a close season. The forestry commission promises that after a few years of protection deer will become plentiful again in the Catskill Mountains. The deer breed twice a year, and if not destroyed by wild animals or man, a herd of deer increases very rapidly. The danger in the Catskills will be that wild animals will destroy young deer, however well the game laws may be enforced.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

The brood sow should have range so she can exercise.

Smut destroys the commercial and feeding value of oats.

Shorts, bran and corn meal is a good feed for the sows and pigs.

The pigs should be pushed from the start and sold at eight or ten months old.

Don't use a scrub boar. The money spent for a full-blood will soon come back.

If the boys have an interest in the hogs, they will not grumble if they have to feed them.

The proportion of first-class cattle on the markets is small. The great bulk of cattle do not bring the best prices.

A great deal of feed is wasted by throwing to hogs in a muddy, filthy pen. Hogs will fatten faster if given warm, dry, clean quarters.

The man who raises good crops will never get rich if he feeds it all out to scrub stock. He will have a job, but will be all work and no pay.

The Idaho experiment station pronounces carbon bisulphide a successful exterminator of the ground squirrel, that is such a serious pest to Western farmers.

In dressing hogs the French burn the hair off by laying the carcass on straw and setting it on fire, and though the skin is thoroughly blackened by this process, yet it is readily scraped white and clean, says Farmer's Home Weekly. They believe that by this process of dressing the meat keeps better and that the flavor is improved.

The American Sheep Breeder says that when you are about to purchase a ram for a stock getter, see that his ears are warm and that his nostrils are round and free, not plugged up with dried mucus. Beware of one which had to be shorn in mid-summer or a little later to enable him to pull through. Such a one is deficient in vitality.

Idaho produces annually 1,320,000 bushels of oats. The experiment station of that State claims that one-fifth of the 1893 oat crop was destroyed by smut. The station director claims that if the seed had been treated there would have been saved to the farmers, deducting the cost of treatment, the sum of $121,937.00, or about $50 per farmer. This is one way of making the farm pay.

Lighting the Poultry House.

A large window admits more heat and light during the day, but it radiates the heat rapidly at night. One of the most essential requirements in the poultry house is light, as the hens will abandon a darkened house during the daytime, no matter how warm it is. Instead of using very large windows, there should be very small windows on at least two sides (or in front and at the end), so as to render the house light and cheerful in every part. Another advantage in using a number of small windows is that they are cheaper than large ones, and the cost is increased but little. They also admit the sunlight from all quarters during the whole of the day, and aid in more rapidly drying the floor, should it be damp.—Ex.

"Wood is always thickest near the springs and streams. To-day the new fallen snow is a sheet whereon the various acts and deeds of the prowlers of the night and early morning are most plainly recorded. Wood would have thought the old woods contained so great a variety of winter residents? When did you ever see one of those wood-mice, whose tracks are scratched across the snow in every direction? But for this mark of their existence you would never know you had such neighbors. Reynard knows them, however. His carefully-made foot prints yonder indicate the deep interest he takes in their welfare; possibly he also had an eye on that series of incipient isosceles triangles, that some little gray rabbit left behind him in the snow. Ah! there is the place where two or three old crows came down to get a drink, remarked concerning the chances of a severe winter, and then took a view of the landscape, from the dead top of that maple on top of that hill yonder, in order to see if their presence was required at the inquest of some defunct crow, or other unburied victim of age or circumstance."—"Ski-hunting Bluff Grouse."—Outing for December.

President Cleveland's daughters, Ruth and Esther, come naturally by their Bible names. The President's father was a Presbyterian clergyman and the present executive was in boyhood daily made familiar with the sacred Scriptures. In naming his children after noble Bible characters, he shows that he has not forgotten the Bible that his mother gave him when he was a boy and which was used twice at his inauguration as President of the greatest country the world has ever seen.

The Sabbath day's journey of the Israelites was 2000 yards, the traditional distance from the end of the Ark of the Covenant to the father side of the Israelites' camp, where they made a stop in the wilderness, the point where the Sabbath law was given.

The Alligator is threatened with speedy extermination. He grows slowly, but he grows as long as he lives, and a twelve-footer is said to be about seventy-five years old. Over 3,500,000 according to an estimate from Florida, have been killed in the last dozen years.

The first strictly American flag raised in the United States was hoisted over the Capitol at Washington, February 24, 1890. It was twenty-one by twelve feet, and was made of American bunting manufactured in Lowell. All previous flags had been made of English material.

At Colgate there is a rose tree which is believed to be three hundred years old and has a trunk of four feet in diameter. California has one at Ventura which is now three feet in circumference at the ground. It was only planted in 1876, and now covers two thousand feet.

refusing to pay ten cents for a stone

Ex-Mayor Charlie Foushee, of Lexington, honored and universally loved by his people, died at his home on the evening of Nov. 28. Don't do as I do; but do as I tell you, and you will get along. "Be honest and pay your debts and you will succeed," were the favorite expressions of his to young men.

The Louisville Times says: "The Republicans can boast as one who took off his armor, because in this year of 1893 they have carried New York over an unpopular candidate by a plurality of 9,696. But what signifies that? In 1882 Grover Cleveland carried New York over Charles Foraker by a plurality of 192,854, but the very next year the State gave a Republican plurality of 15,583. The Legislature just chosen will have no
Senator to elect."

It appears, according to the registration report of Massachusetts, that nearly twice as many women as men in the State live to be over eighty years of age. This accounted for the greater exposure of men to accidents, to weather agencies, to the constant strain of business life, to the anxiety of providing for the family, all of which tend to shorten the life of men.
The deaths by accident among women and men committed suicide in about a threefold ratio as compared with women.

Sunday School Institute.

Under the auspices of the Kentucky Sunday-school Union, will be held in the Broadway Methodist church,
Lexington, on December 7 and 8, 1893.

This Institute is for the territory embraced by the 17th, 21st, 22nd, and 25th Districts, including Shelby,
Franklin, Anderson, Woodford, Scott,
Powell, Wolfe, Lee, Breathitt, Scott,
Payette, Clark, Bourbon, Montgomery,
Boyd, Menifee, Rowan, and Morgan counties. Workers from other counties that these will be cordially welcomed, but it is especially desired that the counties mentioned send large delegations. The citizens of Lexington have kindly offered to entertain delegates and those who expect to attend will please not fail to send their names to J. A. Stucky, at Lexington, so that homes may be provided.
Those hundred delegates are in advance, the L. & N. Railroad and the Louisville Southern R. R. Co. will sell return tickets at one-third the usual fare on the certificate plan. Let everyone bear this in mind and secure from the agent at starting point a cerificate showing that full fare was paid going to Lexington.

Mr. Wm. Reynolds, Field Superintendent for the International Executive Committee, will attend this Institute and make several addresses.
Mr. Reynolds has traveled extensively in this country and Canada, engaged in Sunday-school work and is a thoroughly practical Sunday-School worker; he has attended several of our State Conventions and needs no formal introduction to Kentucky workers.
It is a privilege to have him in our State, and we trust a large number of our workers will be present to gain encouragement and help from him.
The following attractive program will be observed:

TUESDAY—Evening Session.
7:30. Service of Song and Prayer.
8:00. Address, Organization for Evangelization, Mr. Wm. Reynolds.
8:45. Social Hour.

8:00. Address, Opportunity, Mr.
Wm. Reynolds.

The Unruly Tongue.

A wound from the tongue is worse than wound from the sword. If there was lying upon our conscience the remorseless stain of human blood, everlasting and glaring like a serpent, the red denture clasp of our hearts and paralyzing our hopes, the dark shadow of another's death lying across our life's history, how full of fear and misery that life would be! But, answer, instead of destroying life, it is stealing a reputation and ruining a character; we regard that as "only a small sin, a kind scented, ribbon-bound, justified." Yet it were better to thrust a sword through a man's tongue than to thrust the tongue of slander into a man's character. It matters little whether this is done in the hit-terness of outspoken invective or by subtleness of silence, and the wily slander of suggestive words and nod-
s. To destroy a character is the same in the end, whether it is done by a half truth or a total falsehood.

Dr. Johnson once told a lady that it is "far less harmful to render her own cheeks than to blacken another's." A large proportion of the bitterness, misunderstanding and heartache of the world come from the unruly tongue.
The heartless gossip goes to one place to learn the news only to carry it to another with an addenda of gratuitous and irritating comments that inflame and exasperate until bitterness, hatred and enmity hopelessly divide those who ought to be friends.
There are people whose tongues destroy the tenderest friendship, break up the peace of communities, subvert prosperity of the church, and send immortal souls reeling and staggering into perdition. An unruly tongue is worse than lions, and coarses and black travertines.—Methodist Protestant.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr.
King's New Discovery for consumption,
Dr. King's New Life Pills, Buck-ley's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well or that have given such universal satisfaction.
We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price if satisfactory results do not follow their use.
These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits.

A firm has begun to spin yarn from chemical wood pulp. The fibrous materials are first treated in the usual manner, for instance, in the rag engine, that is to say, they are first macerated or decomposed, and thereupon passed through a specially constructed machine, where they are formed into strips or slips, the latter, after being freed of the largest portion of the water adhering to the same, are passed through a set of rollers, where they are rolled up in their length, and thus the loose threads of yarn, called roving, are obtained.

The novel feature of the process,
and of the apparatus employed, is that the fibrous materials suspended in water are not worked on the whole length of the sleeve in use for these kinds of processes, so as to form a broad gauze, but are immediately separated in strips of suitable breadth, which form a thread of roving after being rolled up. The patented disposes entirely with the gauze divider, and employs a sleeve roll having a sleeve not on its whole mantle, but only several strips of sleeve. Furniture covering, in various colors, is also produced.—British Papermaker.

Thomas Kelly, of Kokook, Iowa, writes that evidences of a preglacial river have been found, which in earlier ages drained Lake Michigan westward into what is now the Mississippi river. Some of the places where the river run are covered by nearly two hundred feet of deposit, but the all which occupies the river's bed is black, and contains shells which show the remains of earlier animal life, probably before men lived on this planet.

Dr. Nirsally, of Petersburg, attributes the form of bird's eggs to gravity.
He thinks that every egg not yet covered by a solid shell departs from the spherical form and elongates, simply because of pressure on it by the walls of the ovary. In birds which keep a vertical position when at rest (such as the falcon and owl) the soft egg becomes short through the bird's weight acting against the ovarian pressure.
In birds which like the grebe, are nearly always swimming, the egg lengthens, because the weight of the body acts in the same direction as the ovarian compression.

Statistics regarding the miles in the Bay of Fundy are so startling as to seem almost incredible. At Grand Manan the fall is from twelve to fifteen feet, at Lubec and Eastport twenty feet, at St. John from twenty-four to thirty feet, at Moncton, on the bend of the Petitcodiac, seventy feet, while the distance between high and low water mark on the Coquidog River is twenty miles, the river actually being twenty miles longer at high than at low water. Yachts can be run up and down the flood in this river, and in the Aron that the ebb will leave them high and dry for sixteen hours, so that they can be repaired between tides.

The average speed of the transmission of earthquake shocks is nearly 10,000 feet per second.

COUNTY ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce J. W. E. Groves as a candidate for Assessor of Montgomery county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Hon. W. C. Owings is a candidate for Congress from the Ashland district.

The following Friday by a vote of 173 to 136 decided to revoke the decree by which the Jesuits were expelled from Germany.

The statement of the New York Banks, issued Saturday, shows them to hold in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent. rule, $75,005,900. This is an increase, for the week of over $5,000,000.

The new Tariff Bill to be presented to the House by the Ways and Means Committee, has been made public. It is at once a conservative, and yet a broad measure. The reductions being made as far as possible on raw materials and the necessities of life. The Republicans will, of course, present a minority report.

The State Board of Railroad Commissioners completed their annual report Friday and submitted it to Gov. Brown. It places the total valuation of Kentucky railroads and railroad property at $53,316,038, just $23,000,000 more than the valuation given by railroads. This is an increase of $3,000,000 over the valuation of last year and $5,000,000 over that of two years ago.

John P. Hopkins was, on Saturday, nominated by the Democrats, of Chicago, for Mayor of that city. Acting Mayor, Swift, was made Republican nominee the same day. A startling incident that brought about the immediate adjournment of the convention, was the death from heart disease of Mr. Charles Kozminski, a personal friend of Mayor Swift, who fell just after he concluded a speech endorsing the nomination of his friend.

All that this country is, it has become because of the brain and brawn that our father's bestowed upon it. They came to a wilderness, and brought out of the unproving wild a section that, for fertility and productivity, is a veritable land of plenty, which is our inheritance. The Kentucky of to-day is the grandson of the Kentucky of a hundred years ago. There was a time when to be known to be a Kentuckian was a certain certificate of honor and honesty. Our fathers came here poor; they died rich. By industry and integrity they built up a name that was known, wherever they were heard of, as the synonym of all that was true and manly. The world loves a manly man. It looks down to the man who has strength of character enough to live down his misfortunes and to bring success from his reverses.

Like the balance of the world, our people caught the mania for speculation, that ran wild, almost the earth over, a few months ago, only the attack was a little more severe in this section than in many another.

The consequence was that, becoming over-anxious to make money, many of our people reached too far, and losing their balance, are brought almost to the verge of bankruptcy. How to face many of us stand to-day with a mountain of debt. We must discharge it; pay it like men. Our good name is worth a long, hard struggle with adversity. No honest man—and the people of this county are honest—can afford, nor will he seek to find any other way to his difficulties, than the straight one. It is the quest of a brave man to face his difficulties squarely. It is the part of a coward and a cur to try to sneak out of his engagements by some loophole.

Let the law made for the benefit of honest men, may open to a rascal. We have said previously, and we repeat it, there is scarcely a man in Montgomery county, if the good Lord grants him health, that cannot pay every dollar he owes, if he will go to work in the right spirit. The requirement of this "Credible Country," are almost limitless, and it only remains for our people to right heartily buckle down to the task before them, and in six years' time it will be a thing unthought of for a farmer of Montgomery county to be in debt.

George Armstrong, colored, was hanged at Taylorville, Ky., Friday for the murder of his mistress, Kate Downis, also colored.

Married, on November 29, at James Anderson's in Bath county, John Mauler, of this county, to Miss Lizzie Coverley, of Bath county.

The Sunday issue of the Lexington Press begs the people of the Ashland district not to prejudice Mr. Breckinridge in his case with a court.

Mr. C. H. Donohue, assignee of Jas. E. Thomson, sold his home place of about 50 acres last Saturday to John Evans, for $2,801, the amount due on land notes, which were held by Mr. Evans.

The case of Commonwealth against the Columbia Finance & Trust Co., in the matter of the New Farmers' Bank, will be heard by Judge John E. Cooper to-day.

Judge Lewis Apperson has appointed the following gentlemen Supervisors of 1894 tax books: S. S. Priest, M. W. Anderson, J. C. B. Duff, A. I. Tipton, J. R. Shroat, J. G. Trimble and H. C. Howell.

A meeting in the interest of Hon. William Owens, candidate for Congress in the Ashland district was held in Lexington, the home of Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge, last week.

The Northwest experienced some bitter cold weather the latter part of last week. The thermometer ranging from 16 to 30 degrees below zero. Glad we don't live in that fright region.

The cash in the United States Treasury decreased $7,994,674 during November, making a net increase of $6,716,138 in the public debt. The gold reserve is down to $82,959,049, and the net cash balance is only $12,240,567.

Frank P. Seacore, of unenviable notoriety, who escaped from the Lexington jail, leaving a message that he would return and be on hand for his trial December 5th, was captured in Chattanooga, Tenn., last Tuesday, and is now in the Lexington jail. He has a fine showing for the penitentiary.

On last Saturday, J. R. Dills, a local train dispatcher on the C. & O. railroad, at Ashland, was taken violently ill, and, symptoms indicating that he will not be able to be put on duty again.

A Story comes from Washington to the effect that the Queen of Hawaii is to be a large one to renounce all claims to the throne and that a Provisional Government is to be established satisfactory to the United States.

Judge Samuel E. DeHaven died from heart trouble at his home in Lexington, on the 29th ult., aged 69 years. He was one of the most prominent men in the State. His nephew, W. A. DeHaven, of this city, attended his funeral.

License has been issued from the county Clerk's office for the marriage of Charles R. Barker of this county to Miss Annie Moxley, of this county. Wedding to take place at the home of the bride on the 7th instant.

The Hazel Green Herald, in speaking of the proposed railroad to the cannot state of Morgan county says: "We can secure this road if the people, along the line between this place and Rothwell will but do their part, for the route is several miles shorter and over $200,000 cheaper than any other way."

A Woodford county man applied for a $5,000 life insurance policy. The medical examiner went all over him, finding him a gilt-edge risk. He then asked the man if he drew a pension. The man got red in the face and stammered, and finally admitted that he was drawing $12 per month on the ground of a "nervous shock" or something of the kind. The company refused to risk on moral grounds.—Lexington Transcript.

Gov. McKinley says the voice of patriotism alone should be heard, which is all right enough; but he makes the mistake of confounding himself with patriotism, which is all wrong.

Notice

I will, on Monday, December 18, 1893, the same being County Court day, at the Court-house door between the hours of 1 p. m. and 4 p. m. offer to the highest bidder, a deposit in the New Farm Bank, amounting to $301.50.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrup, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. OSOON, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHLOE, Conway, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 71 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ACHES, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us its lock with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.

Judge H. Clay McKee will be married Wednesday afternoon, the 20 inst. at 5 o'clock, to Miss Mary Carolina Gresham at her home in Lexington, Ky. They will be at their home in this city on and after the 21st. We take pleasure in announcing the wedding of the most excellent couple.

Under a heavy fire, Mollo, the rebel Admiral, escaped from Holt harbor on his flagship, Aquidaban, Friday. The belief is this he will make the repairs necessitated by the fire from Government guns and then sail to the north to head off the Government warships which recently left New York harbor.

Mr. S. B. Hench, of Pennsylvania, whose business it is to prospect for oil and gas has returned from his home and will be in this, Morgan and other Western Kentucky counties for the next few months. He and his company will begin to actually to develop the territory as soon as spring opens.

It is earnestly requested that those who were appointed by the Solidifying Committee for the Associated Charities go to work and secure as much money as possible in order that liberal aid may be extended to the deserving poor in our midst. We are satisfied that our people will respond promptly if the matter is laid before them.

Judge Edward Coke Billings, of the United States District Court, for the Eastern district of Louisiana, died Friday at his residence in New Haven, Connecticut. He was appointed by President Grant, and the vacancy afterwards President Cleveland, an opportunity to place another Democrat on the Federal bench in the South.

The protracted meeting which was to begin at Howard's Mill Baptist Church last Sunday, on account of the bad weather and high water has been postponed until Tuesday evening, the 23rd instant. The brethren at Howard's Mill appear to be somewhat weak in the faith, and certainly need to be indoctrinated. High water is a mighty poor obstacle in the way of a Baptist protracted meeting.

The thoughtless boys who are in the habit of congregating in the vestibules of the churches of the town, and puffing their cigarette smoke into the audience room, will take notice that patience has ceased to be a virtue. It is vile enough for them to smoke the filthy mixture of gutter-soot and cigar stubs and opium; but when people are forced to stand the fumes of the stuff, it is more than can be expected. A military suit went took well at the bar of the police court. Now don't misunderstand us. There are a number of excellent young gentlemen in our midst, who, under no circumstances, will willingly do anything to disgrace the uniform they wear; they are gentlemen always. Unfortunately some of them have found their way among those who have not the high sense of honor that marks the gentleman, whether he be man or boy.

PERSONAL MENTION

Dr. James Thornley has gone to West Liberty on business.

Hon. D. S. Gentry, of Hazel Green, is sick with chills and fever.

Capt. Thomas Henry, of West Liberty, is in the city on business.

Miss Nettie Hunt is visiting relatives and friends in Clark county.

Mary Foster visited Marian and Ella Ratliff in Sharpsburg last week.

Hugh Bristow of Pendleton county formerly of this city is visiting friends here.

W. R. Nunnally and family have returned from a visit to Georgetown.

J. Lawrence White, who has been quite sick with pneumonia, is fast improving.

U. S. Commissioner T. F. Rogers is attending U. S. Court at Covington this week.

Miss Lida Quisenberry has returned from a two months visit to Eminence.

Mr. D. S. Esdill, editor of the Owingdale Outlook, was in the city on business last week.

Mr. J. L. Hughes has returned to her home in Bloomfield, after visiting relatives and friends here.

N. H. Tabb, of Bourbon, was in the city this week, visiting his brother, J. G. Tabb, and sister Mrs. L. F. Payne. Miss Emily Hazelrigg, the beautiful and lovely daughter of Judge J. H. Hazelrigg, is visiting friends here.

Walter and Chas. Anderson, who have been attending school at Central University, spent Thanksgiving at home.

Judge B. F. Day has removed his office from over the exchange Bank building to the office over A. B. Whites office.

Mr. G. E. Rice of Eminence who has been visiting Miss Lida Mathews and Miss Emma McMahan has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Clay came up from Lexington to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Margaret K. Chennault, Mrs. Clay's mother.

Miss Keira's Cluke returned home Thursday evening from an extended visit to friends in Southern Kentucky. Her many friends here extend her a cordial welcome home.

Miss Josie B. Lanthi, who is teaching school near this city, went to Mt. Sterling Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving at her home there.—Lexington Transcript.

Mr. Wm. Chennault (formerly Belle More) has received quite an oration from old friends, and they are delighted to see this practical, noble girl matured into such a superior matron.—Covington Commonwealth.

Mr. Jos. Smith returned last week from Covington, where he had been called to the bedside of his wife's father, Mr. J. P. Powell, who has been quite ill. He reports Mr. Powell, who is well known and has many friends in this county, as greatly improved.

Mr. L. C. Metcalfe, formerly of St. Louis, but now teaching mathematics in the Manual Training School, Louisville, is spending a few days with his wife, L. T. Chiles, of this city. Mr. Chiles is rather proud of his nephew and namesake, who is not only an excellent scholar, having graduated with honor from Washington University, St. Louis, but is a number one, all-round athlete, and we were shown 13 gold and silver medals that he had won in athletic contests—running, high and broad jump, throwing hammer, etc. Young Metcalfe was a member of the Pastime Athletic Club of St. Louis and one of their most reliable men in football, as he is of medium height and weighs only about 140 pounds. His success in outdoor sports seems a little bit surprising. We hope he will find the town sufficiently attractive to come again and make a longer stay.

Dr. James Thornley has sold his property corner of Mitchell avenue and Willow street, to Ed Mitchell for $700.

Elder Joseph C. Frank, pastor of the Christian Church at Lancaster, died Friday, aged fifty years. The funeral services were conducted by Elder J. W. McGarvey, Sunday at 2 o'clock, and the interment took place in the Lexington cemetery.

If the people of Montgomery, Menefee and Wolfe counties will work together, they can get the railroad from Rothwell to the Morgan county canal coal fields. To think it will come our way and do nothing will not get the line. We must all do the very best we can.

The corner stone of the new Chicago Public Library was laid at 10 o'clock Thursday. Addresses were made by Mayor Swift, Dr. E. G. Hirsch and others. The library, when completed, will be among the finest in the United States. The cost of the building and furnishings will be about $25,000.

The celebration of Thanksgiving day in Detroit was without event, except that 10,000 of the poor of the city were provided for with a good dinner and enough food to last for several days. As a result of the Pastor's Union and the Chapman revival services over $25,000 worth of food and clothing was gathered.

Alfred May, of St. Louis, suddenly pounced upon his wife, and catching her by the throat, gave her a bad beating. Then he reached over her, and with a sudden snap, bit off her nose and swallowed it. He then rushed down stairs, seized a pair of shears, and stabbed himself three times in the breast.

Christmas goods are being received and the time is now to advertise them. The firm that can get its goods before the people in the most attractive way will be the one to have a lively business. Put your advertisement in the Advocate. Write what you want and send copy to the office. Think all the time and give plenty of thought to your locale.

Mrs. Dr. Patton Griffiths, of Louisville, visited her wife, Mrs. W. H. Chennault several days last week. Both Mrs. Griffiths and Mrs. Chennault went on Wednesday, to spend Thanksgiving with their brother, Col. S. F. B. More, of Covington, who will in a few days leave for his new field of labor with the Big Four railroad. Mrs. Chennault returned on Friday.

Mr. John W. Carson, of Richmond, Va., a stock buyer, who is well known in this section, has brought suit in the Montgomery Circuit Court for personal damages in the sum of $20,000 against the C. & O. Railroad. It will be remembered by our readers that Mr. Carson was badly injured by what he claims to be reckless carelessness of railroad employees at our yards here. Mr. Carson was superintending the loading of some cattle he was preparing to ship, when in some manner, a car was thrown from the track and he was very badly hurt.

Father Major's Lecture

On Thursday evening at the Catholic church, Rev. T. S. Major delivered a lecture for the benefit of the Y. M. C. of this city, to a well filled house, and we do not know that we could more surely explain how thoroughly he interested the audience than to say that for an hour and forty minutes he held their undivided attention. When Mr. Major stepped before his audience, each one, as he looked in the speaker's face, felt: "Here is a man that has something to say, and whether I agree with him or not, he deserves a most respectful hearing." His subject was one that naturally interested many an old "Confed." "Why a Confederate soldier became a Catholic and a Priest."

No lecturer who has visited Mt. Sterling, except perhaps Ex-Governor Bob Taylor, has drawn so large a crowd to hear him as greeted Father Major on Thursday evening. After the lecture many called on him in the parlors of Father Haley's residence, and found him even more pleasant in private conversation than on the platform.

On Friday, November 24th, at her late home in Bourbon county, near Plum Lick, Mrs. Sallie Squires, wife of James Squires, died of a complication of troubles, aged 57 years. Funeral was preached by Elder L. H. Reynolds. Burial in Maplechapel cemetery. She was a sister of R. C. and B. F. Robinson, and Mrs. Ellis, Dean Mrs. J. W. Chennault and Mrs. Enoch Bruton, of this city.

Mrs. Squires had a lovely character in character and was an ornament to her church and to society. Tender and loving in her family, a true neighbor, she went about doing good as long as she could, and to-day is an ornament in the Father's Kingdom.

The negro Bishop, H. M. Turner, of Atlanta, in an address to the National Colored Convention at Cincinnati last week, said there was little in store for the negro in this country. He favors calling on the Government for a moiety of forty billions. He claims and says that he is able to prove that the Government owes the negroes for labor the sum of $300,000,000. Well, this is the first intimation we have had that there is any amount due the negro from the Government. We find the negroes in this country are subject to its laws and by them they will be governed, and if the future is not bright enough for that race they can't get a move on them too soon.

The Montgomery County Times, the latest aspirant in the newspaper line for public favor, made its appearance Saturday. It is a seven column folio, well printed and new. The Advocate extends the hand of welcome to its new competitor, hoping that whilst we are going our several ways, there may be nothing to interfere with the most cordial relations between the Times and the Advocate. The Times, like the Advocate, carries a club in its hand ready for use on any Republican head that seems to need a rap.

Ex-Governor Robert Taylor, lectured to a packed and cultured audience at the Opera House last Friday evening. They were entertained in Mr. Taylor's familiar style, and no one was disappointed. It was a $300 and $240 of which went to the Montgomery balance, after paying expenses, was divided between the missionary societies of the Christian and Baptist churches. Should Governor Taylor return to Mt. Sterling, he would be again greeted similarly with a hearty welcome and remunerative house.

THE ADVOCATE.

HORSE AND TRACK.

Speed will always find a market. Ails, 2:07, stands 15 hands and weighs eight hundred and fifty pounds.

There will be at least three million dollars more offered in purses for the trotters and pacers next year than ever before.

Three of the six sires who got has won over $20,000 this season, carry the Wilkes blood.

E. D. Spurr, Greendale, Ky., writes that he paid $10,000 for a half and controlling interest in Panico, 2:10, the 15th of August, 1893.—Trotter.

Budd Doble says that he considers Auld's chances of trotting 2:04 better than those of any other horse, not excepting Directum.

Cott-shin gloves were a curiosity at the World's Fair. On the plains of Russia thousands of colts are killed annually for their skins alone, and the leather is equal to fine kid and much stronger.

Don't be discouraged if immediate results are not realized in training the colts. The four-year-old wonder, Directum, was a two-year-old failure.

Of the thirty-nine stallions that were credited with seven or more new 2:30 performers this year, fifteen are sons of George Wilkes.

The leading sires of 1893, in the order of merit, appear to be as follows, from the returns so far in: Nutwood, 18; Onward, 18; Electioneer, 16; Alcantara, 14; Robert McGregor, 14; Almon, Jr., 13; Sidney, 13; Wilton, 12; Ambassador, 12; Bourbon Wilkes, 12; Dexter Prince, 11; Nelson, 11; Pilot Medium, 10; Swigert, 10.

Constant improvement for a period of years was never more marked in the case of any trotter than in that of Dr. Sparks, son of Cyclone. He was foaled in 1887, and as a yearling trotted third to Bell Vasa in 2:38, at Lexington. As a two-year-old he took a record of 2:25, which he reduced as a three-year-old to 2:20, as a four-year-old to 2:17, as a five-year-old to 2:14, and during the past season in his six-year-old form again placed him at a lower notch, 2:12, where it now stands.

In describing the race between Ails and Directum at Fleetwood, a writer says: "In scoring for heats, Directum would stand about half way between the judge's stand and the distance flag and wait for Ails to come up a-flying from a point twice as far away. If the mare did not break, the word 'go' was given. Directum would start on his marvellously true and speedy pace from a standstill, almost, and he never made a false start nor a false step throughout the performance."

A. H. Moore lately said to a correspondent: "As fast as a big win appears, I shall buy the dam and breed her to Directum. Each year as I sell the youngsters I shall sell a few dams from time to time, to make room for those I buy as fashions change, and I secure new lines of blood. Look at my mares, there is scarcely a top sawyer in the country whose dam is not in my stud."

The Forum

"The Greatest of all our Periodicals."

The foremost men of the world write the literature of contemporaneous activity for THE FORUM.

Every great subject is taken up by The Forum when it naturally comes into public attention and is treated by the best authorities, with regard to politics or creeds. It will keep any thoughtful reader informed on the tasks and problems of the time, as no other periodical does.

To many thoughtful people, the price of The Forum has hitherto been prohibitory; indeed all the great reviews have been too high in price for the masses of intelligent readers. But now the number of readers of thoughtful literature—men and women who wish really to know what is going on in the world outside the narrow limits of particular sects and parties—is great enough in the United States to warrant so revolutionary a reduction in price. The Forum discusses important subjects, but it is not dull. The literature of contemporaneous activity is, in fact, the most interesting of all literature. American citizenship implies that a man shall know the opinions of the foremost men and the latest great achievements in every direction of activity.

SIZE AND QUALITY UNCHANGED.

The Forum is now as cheap as the magazines of mere entertainment. THE CHEAPEST, THE LARGEST, THE BEST, OF THE GREAT REVIEWS.
